

Halloween Picture Bingo

6 bingo cards + calling cards · ages 3 and up · 2 to 6 players

What's inside

Pages 2–7: six different bingo cards. Each card shows 16 of the 20 Halloween pictures, so cards rarely win at the same moment. Page 8: twenty calling cards to cut apart.

How to play

1. Print one card per player and cut out the calling cards on the last page.
2. Put the calling cards in a bag, bowl, or treat bucket.
3. The caller draws one card, says the word, and holds up the picture.
4. Anyone with that picture covers it with a marker.
5. The first player to cover four in a row — across, down, or corner to corner — shouts "BOO!" instead of "Bingo!"

Three ways to win

Classic: four in a row. Four corners: cover all four corners. Blackout: cover every square (longest game — good for a quiet wind-down).

Markers by age

Under 4: use stickers, a crayon dab, or a dot marker. Small candy, dried beans, and buttons are choking hazards for young children, so keep those for older players.

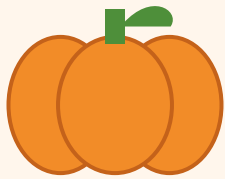

Ages 4 and up: cereal pieces, mini pom-poms, paper squares, or a few pieces of candy for older kids — with a grown-up nearby.

Make it last

Print on cardstock, or slide each card into a sheet protector and use a dry-erase marker so the cards can be wiped and played again. For toddlers, skip the winning and just play "find it": call a picture and help them point to it.
